Salem Press Announces the Newest Edition to the *Salem Health Series: Women's Health

This new title, Women's Health, covers a wide range of issues, including diseases that affect only women, diseases typically considered to be “women’s” diseases, and health-related issues important to women of specific ages. This first edition includes nearly 300 articles in two volumes on all aspects of health pertaining to women. The content featured provides information on physical, sociological and psychological health, and also covers issues pertaining to the LGBTQ community, military servicewomen, and the elderly.

Essays vary in length from 400 to 2,000 words, ranging from one to five pages. Essays cover a wide range of topics, such as Breast Cancer, Pregnancy, Endometriosis, Eating Disorders, Menopause, Heart Disease, Exercise, Autoimmune Disorders, Migraine Headaches, Aging, Depression, Breastfeeding, and many more. The material is arranged into eight categories:

- Anatomy
- Biology
- Development
- Diseases/Disorders
- Procedures
- Social Issues
- Specialties
- Treatments

Essays include “For Further Information” sections, listing several additional resources on the topic. A “Complete List of Contents” at the beginning of every volume assists readers in locating topics of interest from each volume. Photographs, tables and diagrams are included to better illustrate anatomy, diseases, treatments and procedures.

In addition, the following appendixes appear at the end of volume 2:

- Federal Health Resources, listing several agencies, including websites and phone numbers
- Crisis Organizations and Hotlines, listing several emergency resources for readers in need of urgent care
- Glossary

- Category Index
- Subject Index

Designed for high school, undergraduate and public libraries, entries are written in clear, understandable language to provide students and researchers with accessible, updated information important to gain an understanding of the many areas of women's health. It will be of interest not only to public library patrons but also to premedical students specializing in female-specific fields and those building collections for the patient population.
