

Contents

About This Volume, M. Keith Booker	vii
On Dystopia, M. Keith Booker	1

Critical Contexts

Critical Reception, Derek Thiess	19
Ursula K. Le Guin's Critical Dystopias, Raffaella Baccolini	37
Totalitarian Technocracies, Thomas Horan	54
Compare/Contrast: Media Culture, Conformism, and Commodification in Ray Bradbury's Fahrenheit 451 and M. T. Anderson's Feed , M. Keith Booker	73

Critical Readings

Science, Politics, and Utopia in George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty-Four ; Tony Burns	91
Need It All End in Tears? The Problem of Ending in Four Classic Dystopias, Andrew Milner	109
"They Got Me a Long Time Ago": The Sympathetic Villain in Nineteen Eighty-Four , Brave New World , and Fahrenheit 451 , Rafeeq O. McGiveron	125
"The Wretched Refuse of Your Teeming Shore": Overpopulation and Social Breakdown in Harry Harrison's Make Room! Make Room! , Brian Ireland	142
Rationalism, Revolution, and Utopia in Yevgeny Zamyatin's We , Peter G. Stillman	160
The Meaning of "I" in Ayn Rand's Anthem , Aaron Weinacht	175
Frontierism and Dystopian Representations of Home in F. Pohl and C. M. Kornbluth's The Space Merchants , Enrica Picarelli	192
A Nineteen Eighty-Four for the Twenty-First Century: John Twelve Hawks's Fourth Realm Trilogy as Critical Dystopia, Alexander Charles Oliver Hall	209
This Edged Hymn: China Miéville within and against Dystopia, Sandy Rankin	223
1983: Cory Doctorow's Little Brother ; Susan L. Stewart	241
Future Almost Lost: Dystopian Science-Fiction Film, Sean Redmond	257

Resources

Additional Works on Dystopia	277
Bibliography	279
About the Editor	285
Contributors	287