

Contents

---

About This Volume, Alex Vernon vii

On War, Alex Vernon 1

Critical Contexts

Reading the Iliad: A History, Will Hacker 17

Shakespeare's Henry V and Just War Theory, Mark A. Heberle 37

American Literature of the Nuclear Age, Doug Davis 53

Walt Whitman, Emily Dickinson, and the Civil War:
Inventing the Poetry of Mass Death, Ed Folsom 72

Critical Readings

Testaments of Youth: Writing the US War in Vietnam, Philip Beidler 89

Other Worlds, Other Wars: Science Fiction Reinvents War,
Tim Blackmore 106

Women Writing War: Female Voices from the Combat Zone,
Catherine Calloway 125

Focus Afghanistan: Deep Documentary Immersion and Genre
Debt in Restrepo, Camp Victory, Afghanistan, and Armadillo,
Douglas A. Cunningham 145

The Veterans' Tale: Causes and Consequences, Pat C. Hoy II 160

From Brooke's "The Soldier" to Owen's "Dulce et Decorum Est":
The Demise of "Beautiful Death" in the New Poetics of World War I, Tom McGuire 177

Strangers in Strange Lands: Distorted Landscape in the Modern American Military Memoir, John Nelson 197

The Captivity Narrative: An American Genre, Robert C. Doyle 221

War and Witnessing, Elisabeth Piedmont-Marton 241

Native American Military Involvement in (De)Colonial Contexts,
Lindsey Claire Smith 256

"Stubborn Experiments": Bearing Witness in Holocaust Literature,
Dorian Stuber 275

Resources

Additional Works on War	297
Bibliography	299
About the Editor	302
Contributors	303